

On Your Own Project - Job & Taxes

Scenario: The day after your high school graduation, you have been forced to live on your own. This project is designed to give you experience and knowledge so that you will have familiarity for many of the responsibilities and costs that you will soon have to take care of. The more realistic you take this and the more effort you put into this, the better prepared you will be to face the important challenges of your financial future!

Job & Taxes

Part I (Homework)-

Go on the internet and find a job that you are qualified for and would like to have for the scenario detailed above. Print the internet listing out and staple it to the back of Part II.

By qualified, this means that you are a high school graduate and do not have any work experience.

The job must be classroom-appropriate and legal!

Part II (Homework)-

In a format (heading, spacing, margins, etc.) that exactly conforms to the YLHS Research Paper Style Guide, type out these 5 questions and your response. Do not type your response in paragraph form.

- 1) What your job is
- 2) What you imagine the responsibilities to be
- 3) Why you might end up not liking this job
- 4) Why you might really like this job
- 5) Why you think that you could be good at this job
